

The Lost Art of the Obnoxious Missive

For over thirty years, attorney and thrice-divorced co-op board member Marcello Dolce has alienated himself from friends, co-workers, neighbors and civic officials. He is the author of Silence Your Dog Before I Do, Remove Me From Your Mailing List Now and If Zambia's So Great, Why Are You Here? He lives in Manhattan with his cat Schiessen.

UNLEASH THE POWER!

Many individuals stumble through life issuing laughable threats, unclear ultimatums and convoluted demands. Master of the written assault Marcello Dolce has long understood the importance of going for the jugular no matter how mundane the situation. His 12-week workshop will leave you with the skills you need to eviscerate, infuriate and devastate your reader.

Whether you're dealing with a loud neighbor, unqualified applicant or lethargic barista, Marcello's workshops will help you craft sharp, vicious, unforgivable attacks that are as uncalled-for as they are effective.

"Marcello helped me shape an unstructured rant about my neighbor's stereo into a blistering assault on her ethnic background." - Hugo B.

"The anonymous catty notes I leave around my workplace are making co-workers far more uncomfortable than I could have ever dreamed." - Christine R.

"Before Marcello's classes I would never have thought to tell my boss about his adulterous wife in a letter of resignation." - Devon M.

EXCERPTS FROM THE CLASS SYLLABUS

I assume you don't have a job to get up for...
Achieving maximum spite through smug opening lines.

If you could un-bare your midriff we'd be grateful
Peppering your work with unwarranted physical attacks.

No doubt it has nothing to do with your dad owning the company
Little slights that get big results.

WHAT OUR STUDENTS HAVE WROUGHT

- Since parking an automobile properly is obviously too challenging, may I suggest you go back to a tricycle and work up?
- I couldn't help but notice you're not raising your own child.
- Kindly refrain from chaining your bike to my fence so that I can refrain from taking to it with a hacksaw.
- This is a hallway and not a recreation facility. Please keep your friends inside your apartment lest I remind building management that you're illegally subletting. Thanks so much.
- In case you were unaware, you're 30 and ride a skateboard.
